constitutional Union—to catch the fools who believed in the possibility of any such thing, an example not only of Yankee newspaper merals, but a damning evidence of incoherence and rottenness of the so-called Democratic party in the North, which finds such base equivocation necessary to sustain it. In the second class of Southern sympathizers we may place that large number of persons in the North who persistingly deny the right and policy of secession, but who feel for the people of the Confederacy when they read of their poverty and suffering, and thick they have been too terribly punished for their error. This sympathy is purely sentimental and is quite worthess. It abounds in the parlors of New York. There

Wonan's Life.—The lives of women are necessarily more broken up in details than are the lives of men. The existence of the housewife comprises a perjectual adaptation of skill to the exigencies of the moment. "Accidents will happen in the beet of regulated families," says the old proverb; showing that a household never can, arrange it as you will, be a mere routine; and when to the skill of the housewife is added the culture of the reasonable being, and the crowning duties of the Christian, the result is very complex. The life of an educated woman, though worked out in a much smiller. result is very complex. The life of an educated woman, though worked out in a much smaller from Senators from Georgia, in which spliere, is generally more complex than that of a man; just as the education of a girl is often more complex than that of Yale or Harvard. It is often remarked that a girl suffers more than a boy by being brought up in an institution; nature intends her to do battle with all the read difficulties charges.

The tax of thirty cents per pound on leaf pacco, as proposed by Mr. Kasson at Washngton, if made a law, would seriously effect the aising of this staple article, and. in our opin on, would soon destroy its production in nearly every part of the United States. The district in which is concluded the city of Louisville. slone pare into the United States treasury a larger tax than the entire State of Indiana does: and the greater portion of the revenue is derived from the tax levied on leaf tobacco. We believe that if the records at Washidgton were examined it would be discovered that the largest premiums are paid on the tobacco mauufactured in the United States. Conceding this to be so, would it not be extremely unwise to destroy the production of an article which Government, by an unjudicious tax as proposed by Mr. Kasson? What would be the consequence in adopting such a measure? It is no difficult matter to foresee the resul-The tax levied on each manufacturer would be so heavy as to make the business unprofitable. He would be forced to close his establishment, and the raiser, Ending no market for his tobacco, would turn his attention to other pursuits. It would not require many seasons to destroy the trade in this article, laboring as we do un cer the restrictions placed upon commerce in our State. Destroy the trade, and you destroy the revenue which Government derives from it Kentucky is deeply interested in this m tt r. and when she is more seriously affected by the proposed tax than any other State in the Union, her protest should receive somethin, more than a passing thought by Congress.

It is also proposed to levy an additional tax upon whiskey. It is stated that many of the distillers have been obliged to stop work hecause they cannot pay for corn, labor, &c., and pay the tax now exacted by Government. The tax swallows up the profits, and they are forced to suspend operations. It is proposed to tax the amount on hand, because cons found for the article, and owing to but little being manufactured, each day diminishes the quantity and enhances the value of the remainding stock. Our legislators would add to the tax so as to make it impossible to distill more whiskey. Government, they say, wants money and it only can be o tained by taxati in. This is very true, b t we should not kill the goose for the sake of obtaining the golden eggs. In other words, we should not destroy a commodity for the purpose of de lying, for a brief time, an increa ed reverne foru it. Better make the tax lighter and thus preserve always the studie as a source of revenue to the Government. Why should one product be taxed more than another? Why not 1 x corn, hay, oats, &c., as well as whiskey and tolacce? The production of the Iwo It to menti ned articles employs as much labor in Kentucky, in proportion to the population of the State, as does the raising of corn, wheat, &c., In other States. Labor, then, will be affect ed to the proposed tax, and the poor man will suffer by the adoption of the nawise measures.

The great decline in gold, or rather the great appreciation of the Federal currency, in licates either that the money-dealers and th people have strong contidence in the success the reported peace negotiations, or that the Sate Immense Federal military successes have ensuired their hearts with a conviction that our arms will soon compel a peace whether the informal negotiations said to be pending shall suc coed or fail. We have no doubt that both the supposed negotiations and the great and vastly portant Union victories contribute to the contidence that is felt in the Government currency. As for ourselves, we believe less in the negotiations than in the victories. The former may be politicians of that section may pretend, feel that the late blows inflicted by the Union military and naval forces are terrible. The author ities and people of the So th would, we are sure, hail a peace upon any terms that would spare their pride. What terms would, and what would not spare their pride, we are unprepared to say. We think that It is fully and deeply realized in the South that the States now loval to the Federal Government could not consent to a permanent division of the old Union, with out consenting at the same instant to permauent isruption, disorganization, anarchy, and ruin among themselves. That the Federal States will consent to anything of this sort, so long as Llocd and breath iast, is out of the question The people of the South, at least many of them, no doubt think that they are fighting for nation-

Unquestionably the guerillas, no matter whether authorized or unauthorized by the Confederate military or civil authorities, should and must be expelled from Kentucky, where they have long Leen a trightful curse to the people-It seems a shame, a scandal, and a crime, that they were not expelled a good while ago. But let us not, in undertaking to relieve our people of a great and cruel wrong, adopt a policy that would probably bring upon them a greater and more cruel one.

The negro troops on James River, a little below Chapin's Bluff, are many thousands it number. Without being able to speak from any personal observation, as to their fighting quaijties, we can say, that, in all their military evolutions and exercises, they have a most soldierly appearance. There are Kentucky brigades

The encampment of these troops, considered as military headquarters, is far the best we have ever seen. The whoie country there is covered thickly with young pines, five or six inches through and as straight as Indian arrows. From chief oppouents of the compromise of 1850, the trunks of these pines, probably a thousand and, in distributing the patronage of his Adminbuts have been constructed under the superin- istration, sedulously preferred the fire-enters to tendence of army engineers, the interstices be- the Union meu of his party at the South, and ing closed in the nestest manner with clay, and the Van Buren sectionalists to the conservative each cabin having a fine fire-place and chimney. | men of the North. But we ask them not to call I ard names until they have airly and dispussionately controvertel our argement. Now, when all the cvile of slavery gitation and the estrangement engendered by between the North and South are sorely felt withe whole country, the slaveholding States are especially interested in knowing who are chief's responsible for them.

Slavery existed in most of the states at the time of the adoption of the Federal Constituion, and that instrument conferred on the Coneal Government no | wer to interfere with it in States wherein it existed, except by the probibition of the slave trade after 1818. The institution existed not by virtue of the Constitution of the United States, but by recevirting rights, which were exclusively within the control of the States where they subsisted. No agitation affecting the harmony of the Union appears to have arisen until the eclebrated Missouri controversy in 1820, which resulted from an attempt of Congrees not to legi-late upon the -n'ije t of -lavery in a ter itory, but to annex an unconstitutional condition to the admission of a State, carved, too, out of territory where slavery had a nath existed by pre-existing vested rights previous to its ac nisition from France. OUTRACE AT SM. THI AND, -While the steamer Fatty Gilbert was lying at Smithland four soldiers straggled off into the town, and finally entered the house of a man named Isases, and beat n inhumaniv, cutting a dangerous gash in is head, and robbing him of a gold watch and slive, but it was thought he could scarcely re-

Leerfully when called upon by the committee.

Three men were subsequently arrested for mutiny, who are believed to be the authors of the ontrage. They were turned over to Captain Tembler, commandant of the post there, for discirline, and to be forwarded to their regiments for trial and punishment. Their names are Jaremish Haley, company B. 47th Illinois: Urlah Henderson, com; any H. 20th Illinois; and Taswell Douglas, company G, 43d Ohio Wm. H. LOUISVILLE THEATRE.-Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence commence an engagement at this Theatre to-night They are favorites in our city. and no doubt, on their first appearance will meet with a flattering reception. Handy Audy and Mischievous Annie will be performed with Mr. and Mrs. Florence in leading characters.

WOOD's THEATRE.-Miss Ada Gray takes a benefit to night, appearing in two leading characters in the fine play of East Lynn. Miss Gray has many friends in the city and it requires nothing more than the simple announcement that she takes a benefit, for them to rally around the stage, and crowd the theatre to overflowing. The refugee fair is postponed another week. It seems to be a difficult matter for the managers 'o determine what they want to do. The fair has been advertised to open next week for nearly two months past. BARRACES ITEMS .- Two hundred convalesants were received yesterday, and sixty-five men from St. Louis. The transfers were 203 to Nashwille, 75 to Annapolis, Md., and 75 to New York. PAY STOPPED .- The pay of over eight hundred officers of the Commissary Bureau has been stopped in consequence of their failure to render prompt and correct accounts. DESERTERS .- Twenty-three deserters from St. Louis, and six from Detroit, were received at the Barracks yesterday.

DIVISION ON SALES OF GOLD. - The following orrespondence embraces an important decision oncerning sales of gold:

Mon. W. P. Peseenden, Sec. et vry of Treasury, DLAU SIR: We understand that all sales of gold made by a licensed broker on commission only are subject to a tax of I 20th of one per eent. Is this so?

Are sales of gold, made by an individual, alike subject to this tax, as are those made by a licensed broker?

In other words, is an ordinary sale of gold, made by A to B, subject to taxation of 1-20th of one per cent, as though made by a licensed broker Yours, respectfully,

The German newspapers have got hold of a up. The affair dates as far back as 1818, when his pre-nt Majesty, as Crown Prince, marched into Badea somewhat after the Schleswig-Holstein fashion. To carry out his operations against the Federal Grand Duchy, he had to cross the Rulne at the Bayarian village of the Ru Gemershelm, where he halted with his suite on the 17th and 18th of June, taxing to their utmost capabilities the cellar and larder of a local Gesthof. He ran up a little bill of two hundred thalers, which, in the hurry of departure, he forgot to discharge, and the worthy Boniface has been ever since seeking redress, alternately at Munich and Berlin. This summer he accosted his debtor personally during his visit to Baden Baden, and was told to forward his account to the Chancellor of the Household. The latter functionary has had full time to take the royal order for payment; but in November he forwarded to the innkeeper a document printed in all the Zeitungs along the Rhine, and signed 'Buckler,' to the effect that, as Crown Prince, he was then engaged in Federal execution at the cost either of the Diet or of Bavaria, to either of which paymasters the hotel bill for whee, Kirchawasser, ershelm, where he halted with his suite paymasters the hotel bill for wine, Kirchwasser, cigars, &c., was refurred. Carns.—Trump, which some consider the parent of whist, was so commonly known, that Latimer, afterwards bishop and martyr, in some semions "on the Card," preached at St. Edmund's Church, Cambridge, the Sunday belore mund's Church, Cambridge, the Sunday belore Christmas, 1529, actually used it as a familiar illustration, and thus dealt out an exposition of Christmanity: "And whereas you are about to celebrate Christmas in playing at cards, I tutend by God's grace, to deal unto you Christ's cards, wherein you shall perceive Christ's rule. The game that we will play at shall be called the friumph, which, if it be well played at, he that dealed shall win, the players shall likewise. game that we will played at, he that dealeth shall win; the players shall likewise win; and the standers and lookers upon shall do the same; insomuch that there is no man willing to play at this triumph with these cards but they shall be all winners and no losers. "It seems," says Fuller (History of Cambridge, p. 103), "that he suited his sermons rather to the time than to the text, which was the Baptist's question to our Lord, 'Who art thou?' John I. IP, laking thereby to conform his discourse to the playing at cards, making the heart thumph (trump). This blunt preaching was in those days admirably effectual, but would be justly ridiculous in our age." "I remember," adds Fuller, "In my time, a country minister preached at St. Mary's from Rom, xil. 3, 'As God haltin dealt to every man the measure of faith.' In a fond imitation of Latimer's sermen he prosecuted the metaphor of dealing, that men should play 'above board,' i. e., avold all dissembling, not pocket eards, but improve their gifts and graces, 'follow snit,' Ser, all which produced nothing but lungiter in the lid).
